SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY EVENING, AUGUST 24, 1915.

STATE ROAD ALL WAY TO SERRA OPEN TO AUTO TRAVEL SOON

County Pavement West of El
Toro Is Now In Use For Light Travel Only

Almost certainly by September 10 the state highway pavement will be open for automobile traffic all the way from Santa Ana to Serra. With four miles of state highway on the Echenique mesa already open, probably there will be another mile or more open by September 10.

By September 10 an automobile entering Orange county at the north county line bound for San Diego can travel paved road all the way to the San Diego county line with the exception of about five miles of road.

A disagreeable bit of by-pass was put out of auto use yesterday when county Highway Engineer S. H. Finley opened up the new county paved road between El Toro and the state highway to the west. This road is now traveled by light traffic only, such as light rigs and automobiles. Grain wagons will not be allowed upon it for ten days more. It was only on an agreement with the grain haulers that they would continue to use the by-pass for ten days more, that the engineer allowed the road to be open for light traffic.

Until the state road below Irvine is open, the main traffic to San Diego will continue to be by way of Trabuco road to Allison canyon, down Allison canyon through El Toro to the paved state highway, which is open from El Toro to Serra.

The unfinished gap between Santa Ana and Serra is about 3500 feet immediately below Irvine. The paving crew is working northward, laying about 500 feet of concrete a day. The state engineer inspecting the job stated yesterday that the paving would be finished Wednesday or Thursday of next week, and that the road would be open for light traffic ten days thereafter.

Old Rank Back

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Colonel P. M. Perkins has been re-commissioned as a naval officer from July 16, by a special Congressional act, and has received the appointment as commander of the Puget Sound marine barracks. Colonel Perkins went out of active service nearly ten years ago, on account of the alleged efforts of a clique to oust him.

NEW PLAN OF FLOOD CONTROL ASKS FOR RESERVOIR AT CORONA

Los Angeles Times: Organization of the Board of Supervisors as the supervising body in charge of the Los Angeles flood control district and a new scheme of handling the waters of the San Gabriel River had a near-simultaneous birth yesterday. R. W. Pridham was unanimously elected chairman of the district board and County Clerk Leland secretary, both without compensation. The next meeting of the flood control board will be at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning.

The new scheme of control for the San Gabriel River came to light through resolutions passed by the Los Angeles Advancement League, protesting against the bonding of the county for $16,000 for flood control and suggesting an alternative plan, based on conservation.

"Be it resolved," say the resolutions, in part, "that we approve the tentative general plan suggested by Joseph H. Call, R. W. Pridham and others, for the construction of a great storage basin, or basins, retarding dams in the tributary canyons of the water shed; distribution of the waters during the dry season, and other valuable suggestions."

Construction of a diversion ditch from the mouth of San Gabriel Canyon to a 8320-acre reservoir site, four miles north and west of Corona, is the big feature of the plan, according to Leonard O. Hall, who has made tentative surveys.

"A dam 100 feet in height would be built and 416,000 acre feet of water impounded," he said. "The diversion ditch would catch the waters of the San Gabriel, Big Dalton, Lytle Creek, San Jacinto, Santa Ana, and San Antonio."

The cost of the work is roughly estimated at $8,000,000, and it is computed that 100,000 or more acres of land could be brought under irrigation by the use of the impounded waters. The acreage, it is proposed to irrigate, lies between Corona and Whittier and south of Ontario and Pomona, though, it was pointed out, the diversion ditch might be tapped any place along its route north of Azusa for irrigation purposes.

Under the resolutions, committee is to be appointed to consider and report upon the plans proposed for the utilization of these waters, and to confer with the Board of Supervisors, all civic and business organizations, clubs and interested taxpayers.

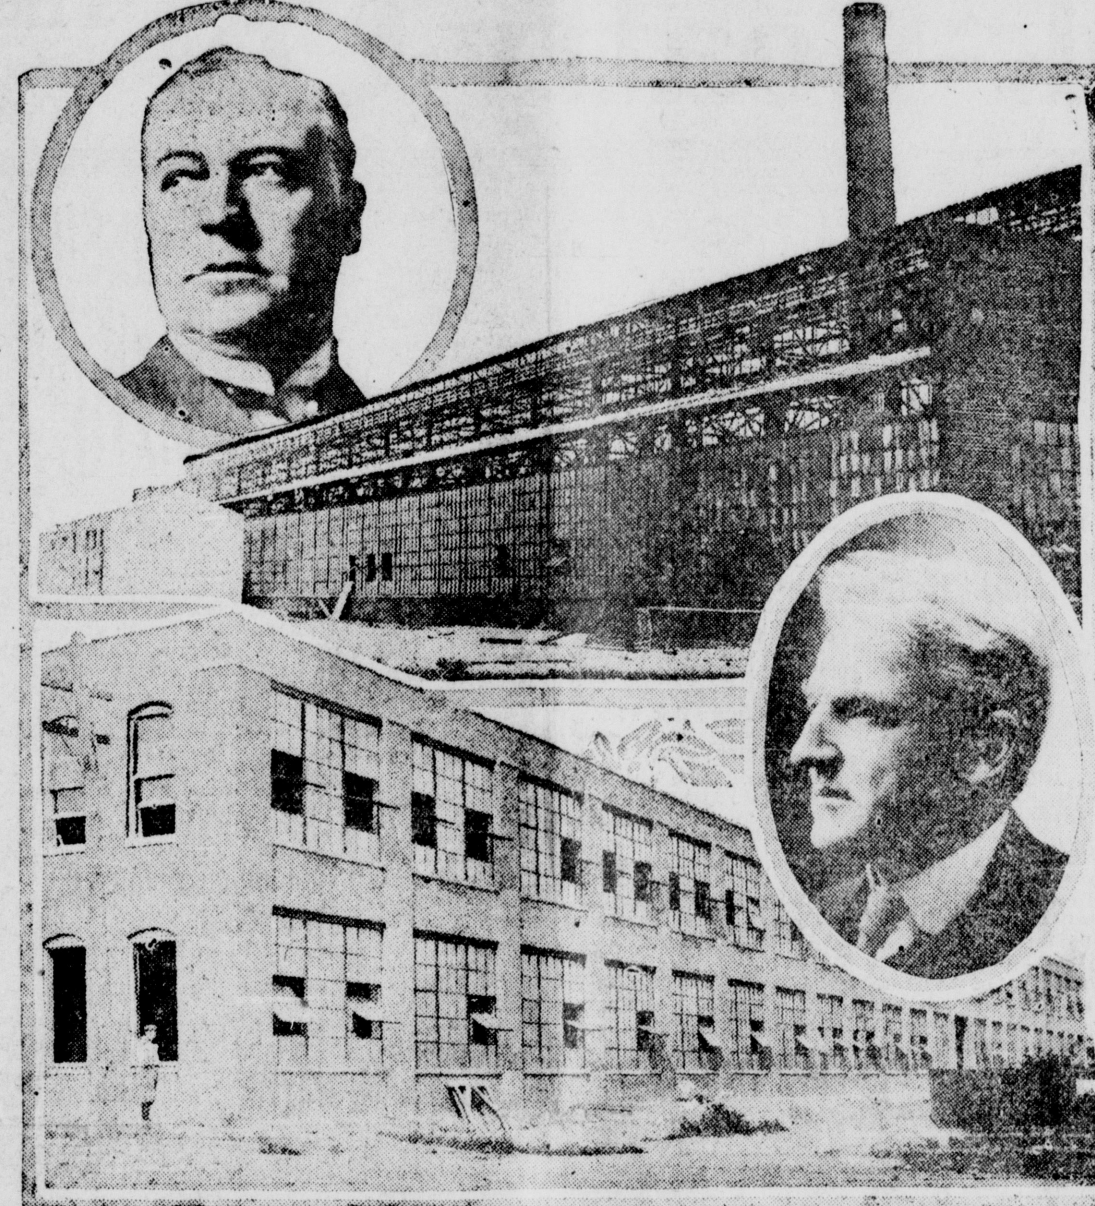

German Capital Working for Fatherland Here? Rumors, Charges May Result In Investigation

George Sylvester Viereck

George Sylvester Viereck is the founder of the Fatherland, a weekly publication in New York City. It was started shortly after the war began and it has been a defender of German policy, even excusing the sinking of the Lusitania. It has been a severe critic of President Wilson's policy. A New York newspaper, in an effort to show that this publication was largely supported directly from German official funds, has published what it declares to be letters from Viereck to Dr. Heinrich F. Albert, German financial representative, presenting his account for June, 1915, and asking $1500, and Dr. Albert's reply, under date of July 1, 1915, that he hoped "in the course of the week to be able to make payment." The doctor also makes what is equal to a demand for control over the policy of the paper.

THE BRIDGEPORT PROJECTILE COMPANY FACTORY

These photographs show the great war munitions factory at Bridgeport, known as the Bridgeport Projectile Company, said to have been built with German money. Walter H. Knight is president of the company, and is actively engaged at Bridgeport during the construction of the buildings. Joseph W. Hoadley, the financier, whose spectacular handling of International Power Company stock some years ago was one of the sensations of Wall Street, would not discuss the question of the company. But he was quoted as saying:

"I will not answer any question until I know how my statement is to be used. It's none of the public's business. What difference does it make if the German government is financing the Bridgeport Projectile Company? What difference does it make who puts up the money? But you need not think these accusations are going to stop now. They are not national or international; they are world accusations. England, France and Germany will not let the matter rest now."

Revelations, which the United States attorney general is now inquiring when he was asked if he was investigating, have been made concerning the financing of this big company. They show that the negotiations have been handled by Carl Heyman, former agent in Mexico of the Hamburg-American Steamship Company, for Hugo Schmidt, agent in the United States for the Deutsche Bank, one of the great banks of Germany, which does an enormous business with the government there. Payments to the Bridgeport company are said to have been made by the German bank through the Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

Capt. Franz Von Papen

Captain Franz von Papen, military attaché of the German embassy in Washington, has been prominently mentioned in connection with German operation. A New York newspaper has presented what it calls a report made by him to his superiors on the question of buying the product of factories which manufacture chlorine gas, such as used by the Germans in the trenches about Ypres in April. In fact, his name runs all through the remarkable story about the operations of Dr. Heinrich F. Albert to help the German cause in the United States. It is broadly hinted in Washington that an investigation, which may result in a request on the German government for the recall of several of those in the embassy, may be made.

sion Says 'Wages Too Low,'

SAPP ARRESTED MANSLAUGHTER RESULT DEATH OF RAFIELD

Son-in-law of Man Who Was Killed Sunday Swears to Felony Complaint

William L. Sapp of Orange has been arrested on a charge of manslaughter. The complaint alleges that he "wilfully, unlawfully, feloniously and without malice aforethought did kill one M. S. Rafield, a human being."

Sapp drove the jitney that turned over on South Main street Sunday noon, in the wreck of which Meyer S. Rafield, a Los Angeles man, received injuries from which he died within three hours.

The complaint against the jitney driver was sworn to by A. S. Kraker, a merchant of Pomona, son-in-law of the man who was killed. Kraker was present at the coroner's inquest yesterday, and with other relatives of Rafield listened to the detailing of the accident. After consulting with relatives, Kraker went to the district attorney's office and asked for a warrant for Sapp's arrest. The complaint was prepared in the district attorney's office and was sent to Justice Cox, who issued the warrant. Under Sheriff Luman arrested Sapp.

Sapp's preliminary examination was set by Justice Cox for 10 o'clock, August 31. His bond was fixed at $3000. William White of Santa Ana, owner of the jitney that was driven by Sapp, was in court at the time of the arraignment today.

Sapp is 21 years old. He has been living at Orange. He left home a few months ago after the death of his mother. He states that he has been driving automobiles for about four years as chauffeur and as an employee for owners of rental autos and jitneys.

STARTS OPERATIONS TO FORCE CLEANING-UP OF FORTY-FIVE CITY LOTS

ORANGE, Aug. 24.—The City Trustees last night declared forty-five lots in this city to be nuisances, and property owners were given orders to clean them up at once. If property owners fail to give heed to the order, the city will proceed at once under a new state law to have the street department clear the lot of weeds and rubbish, and charge the cost up as a lien against the property. The city authorities are satisfied that under the new state law they have a solution for the vacant lot problem.

AMERICAN RED CROSS WILL RECALL NURSES

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Major Patterson, chief of the American Red Cross bureau, has notified the waring nations that the hospital personnel is to be withdrawn from Europe October 10. His letter continues:

"The American Red Cross feels that, having given the assistance of its personnel for one year, which will be done by October 1, it can now render better service by confining simply to furnish surgical, hospital and medical supplies to the belligerent nations. "It will do this probably for the duration of the war, thus saving the expense of keeping the personnel in Europe."

COLORLESS VERDICT IS FOUND BY CORONER'S JURY IN FRANK LYNCHING

MARIETTA, Ga., Aug. 24.—The coroner's jury which had been empaneled in the Leo M. Frank lynching case, at this town, last Thursday morning, brought in a colorless verdict to the effect that Frank had come to his death at the hands of "persons unknown."

Twenty witnesses were put on the witness stand and testified to what little they would own up to. The jury deliberated but three minutes. Many witnesses were asked point blank: "Do you know who killed Leo M. Frank?" but each and all answered in the negative.

It is not known just what the governor will do in the case. "It is expected, however, that he will try to do something at once."

He will also speak on the subject of "State Aid in Land Settlement." D. W. Carmichael of Sacramento speaks on "The Settlement of Irrigation Districts" from a realty man's point of view. State Water Commissioner Irvine Martin will discuss "Water Rights."

GREAT STRATEGY RESPONSIBLE FOR TEUTON ADVANCES

Russians, While Denying They Are Anywhere Near Defeat,
Give Foes Great Credit

PETROGRAD, Aug. 24.—A high war office official has admitted that the fall of Vilna and Bielsostok, two very important railway centers north of Warsaw, is now imminent. Their fall would be as severe a blow as that of the Warsaw-Petrograd railway. Army officials declared that the Russian armies are still uncrushed. They seem confident that the increasing munitions output will soon enable the Slavs to regain all the lost territory. They admitted that superior German strategy was largely responsible for the late big Teuton gains.

REPORTED LOSS OF SUBMARINE IN RIGA BATTLE CONFIRMED

LONDON, Aug. 24.—The Russian admiralty has not confirmed the report that a German auxiliary cruiser and a submarine were to be added to the list of Teuton vessels destroyed during the Gulf of Riga battle. The Vossische Zeitung today declared that Russia is facing bankruptcy. A printed stenographic report, purporting to be a meeting of the Russian Imperial Council and Finance committee, stated that the Slavs cannot put 8,000,000 additional troops in the field because of lack of officers and equipment. Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg addressed a large crowd of people before his residence following the passage of the $2,000,000,000 war loan. He said: "The struggle is not yet ended, but if God wills, the day will arrive when what does not bend must break."

SNAPPY ADVICE TO CAMPERS IN WOODS

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 24.—State Forester Homans combined sound sense with a flash of humor in preparing warning cards to campers and automobile tourists. He urges them to be thoughtful when lighting matches or building camp fires in wooded country or along a brushy or grassy road. "When lighting a match," says Homans, "use your head—the match can't. A person who leaves a campfire unextinguished belongs in jail, whether or not he is caught. Where do you belong?"

German Claim That Arabic Struck Mine Not Given Credence at Capital

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The gravity with which the administration regards the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic by a German submarine, with the loss of two American lives, was indicated last night, when some

DON'T WASH YOUR HAIR WITH SOAP

When you wash your hair, don't use soap. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle. The best thing to use is just plain mulified coconut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

definite information regarding the President's attitude was obtained from a high official.

It was stated that if Germany attempts to defend the sinking of the Arabic, without offering good reasons in extenuation, it is the administration's present intention to break off diplomatic relations and that this action will probably be taken within twenty-four hours after the receipt of the German communication.

In this connection, it is significant that officials of the State Department were engaged all day yesterday in looking up precedents on the recall of ambassadors.

Ambassador Page, who advised that he had mailed data concerning the sinking of the Arabic, was directed to send a summary of this data by cable.

MOVE WILL BE DECISIVE AND CAUTIOUS

Ambassador Gerard was instructed to ascertain from the German government if a report regarding the sinking of the Arabic was available.

Everything, therefore, seems to indicate that if official reports bear out unofficial accounts of the destruction of the Arabic without warning, and show a disregard by Germany of the rules of international law, the administration will proceed expeditiously and decisively. Secretary Lansing appeared careworn yesterday. Evidence that other Cabinet officers were considering the Arabic case was furnished when Attorney General Gregory, for the first time, discussed the incident with newspaper men.

DISAVOWAL ALONE CAN PREVENT ACTION

It is now generally believed in official circles that only prompt disavowal by Germany of the sinking of the Arabic can avert a break between the two governments. The view here, however, is that this would not necessarily mean war. It is well understood that President Wilson's opinion is that the breaking off of diplomatic relations need not provoke hostilities.

BERNSTORFF ASKS U. S. TO WITHHOLD JUDGMENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Count Von Bernstorff has asked the United States government to withhold all action in the Arabic case until the official report is received from Berlin. The German ambassador plans to issue the report as soon as his authority to do so is received from his home state department.

The German situation consequently is brightened up. It is stated that the imperial government wants America to know all the facts surrounding the loss of American lives on the Arabic and hear both sides of the case. The German admiralty has not yet heard from the commander of the submarine which sank the Arabic. Ambassador Page's summary of the Arabic evidence has been received. Secretary of State Lansing withheld it on account of its "fragmentary character." It is admitted that Page was asked to quickly submit more detailed information.

GERMANS SAY LOSS OF LIFE DUE TO "LEAKY BOATS"

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—Berlin newspapers today expressed their regret at loss of life in the "incident of the sinking of the Arabic."

One and all stated that the loss of life was probably due to "leaky boats," as in many previous cases. There is the usual and typical statement that the casualties are no fault of the submarine, even if it is established that a submarine sank the liner. The official report has not been received. The public is advised to reserve its judgment. It is stated that the Arabic was an English ship, going out for another cargo of munitions and carrying a large amount of gold to pay for munitions bills.

GERMANS CAPTURE 4500 PRISONERS IN BATTLE

BERLIN, Aug. 24.—An official statement declared that Prince Leopold's Bavarians had again defeated the Russians northwest of Kleszele and had reached the forts. They captured 4500 prisoners of war. The western front admitted that the French had captured the Barrenkopf trench. Von Hindenburg continued to attack on the east and south of Kovno. He also captured 3500 prisoners.

OFFICIALS ADMIT MEXICAN PEACE PLAN FAILED

Washington Administration Still Watchfully Waiting For Carranza's Reply

VERA CRUZ STILL QUIET

U. S. Cavalymen On Trail of Ten Deserters Who Flew From Carranza Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—No reply has yet been received by the State Department from General Carranza in response to the appeal sent him urging a peace parley for the settlement of the troubles in Mexico.

A high official of the department last night said that nothing more than a mere polite acknowledgment of the receipt of the note is expected.

That the peace plans of the administration so far have failed is conceded. The State Department has no official information that the other republics signatory to the appeal will not support this government if it undertakes active intervention in Mexico.

The representatives of these countries have been sounded and have strongly intimated that their respective governments fear that active intervention in Mexico by the United States means ultimate political and commercial control of that country, all of which would be to the disadvantage of the Latin American republics.

The Pan-American Mexican conference will not be reconvened until the reply of Carranza has been received, and it is believed he will not send it until he is fully installed in Mexico City, a fact that will add to his prestige and strengthen his claim for recognition.

EMBARGO ON ARMS NOT INTENDED FOR MEXICO

Establishing an embargo on arms intended for Mexico does not seem to be the present purpose of the administration. The best indication that following Carranza's rejection of the appeal, there will follow another period of "watchful waiting."

Meanwhile, there is renewed activity on the part of the military forces of the opposing factions in Mexico.

Villa's representatives here have advised him of the demand for recognition that Carranza is preparing. Villa, according to information received by the department, is hastening to meet Obregon and preparing for a decisive engagement in the neighborhood of Torreon.

If Obregon crushes Villa in this

MALTED MILK

A Food Product of Surpassing Value to Either the Sick or the Well

Malted Milk, as its name implies, is a combination of milk and malt, although other ingredients enter into its manufacture. Here is a food product which has come to be recognized by physicians all over the world as an invaluable article of diet—not only for children and aged, for invalids and dyspeptics—but for those in robust health as well. It is palatable to the taste, easily assimilated, restores energy, and affords proper nourishment with a minimum tax on the digestion. But all malted milks are not alike by any means. If you want a real malted milk—one in which the casein (or cheesy, indigestible part of the milk) has been partially predigested, be sure and specify the famous Borden's brand—known the country over as "Borden's" Malted Milk in the Square Package.

In recognition of its superiority over all other brands, Borden's Malted Milk has just been awarded "The Grand Prize" at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, in San Francisco—the highest possible award. Furthermore it is the only malted milk used in the soda fountain concessions at both the San Francisco and San Diego expositions.

Borden's Malted Milk can be obtained at all modern druggists and costs no more than inferior kinds. Insist upon Borden's.—Advertisement.

THINKS CARRANZA IS ACTING FOR MEXICO'S GOOD

NOGALES, Aug. 24.—Ignacio Bonillas, the minister of communications and public works in the Carranza cabinet, and a past grand master of the Nogaes lodge of Masons, and also a graduate of the New York Polytechnic school, has arrived here. He declared that the Carranza cabinet is actuated by the highest motives for the good of all Mexican people, and is composed of men who have sacrificed personal interests to those of Mexico.

BRISK BATTLE FOUGHT SOUTH OF DUQUESNE

NOGALES, Aug. 24.—Ranger Lou Stevens, Harry A. Stevens and Marshall MacDonnell, three cowboys, fought a brisk battle with Mexicans two miles south of Duquesne today. The Mexicans opened fire from their side of the border. The Americans replied, the rangers firing at 500 yards. Three hundred shots were exchanged. The Mexicans erected breastworks facing the border. They would frequently shoot across.

CARRANZA'S ANSWER TO APPEAL ON WAY TO WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Carranza's reply to the Pan-American peace demands are en route to the United States. It is understood that recognition of himself is a demand. Official circles have indicated that the Villa victory in the fighting around Monterrey is the cause of American satisfaction. A big Villa victory would place Carranza on an even footing with the other leaders and make him amenable to the proposed peace plans.

MANY CROSSINGS PROMISED TO BE FIXED

Among reports to be received at the Associated Chambers of Commerce at the Hotel Palisades tomorrow night will be one from Gustav Stern of Fullerton, chairman of the good roads committee. Stern and his committee have been doing some good work toward getting crossings of highways with railroads fixed up. Stern received a list of bad crossings from all parts of the county, and then went to the various railroads with the complaints. He received promises of action to better the crossings.

Reports will be received tomorrow night from the various districts of the county as to the number of signatures on the harbor petitions. A total will be made and whatever steps are necessary to hasten the completion of the petition will be taken.

CAPTAIN FINCH TELLS STORY OF SINKING

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 24.—Captain William Finch, who commanded the Arabic on her last momentous voyage, as well as for the past eight years, spent the greater part of yesterday with Consul-General Lee Washington, in making an affidavit covering every feature of the sinking of the ill-fated White Star liner.

Captain Finch told the complete story of the sinking to a group of newspaper men yesterday, and emphasized the fact that he did not tell very much the day of the sinking because he was so filled with sea water and was so much shocked at the torpedoing of his vessel that he was nearly dazed. Besides he was suffering considerably from the bruises he had received in the strenuous few moments between the striking of the ship by the torpedo and the sinking of the vessel.

He gives greatest credit to the engine room force, saying that they showed the greatest heroic spirit he ever had seen or dreamed of. He says that this war will end the making of the great leviathans of vessels which have been growing steadily bigger and bigger year by year, and that in the future the greater number of ships built will be of comparatively small tonnage.

In concluding his story, the captain stated, emphatically, when told that it was said that it was the intention of Germany to endeavor to prove that he was trying to ram the submarine that he had not even been aware that the destroyer was in the vicinity, and added: "The fact is that I did not see the submarine, and therefore cannot nail hard enough such a lie, which would give even the semblance of an excuse for the WANTON MURDER OF THE POOR SOULS who went down with the Arabic."

It is the heartfelt wish and desire of Mrs. Finch, the captain's tiny and lady-like wife, that the mariner will never go to sea again, and Captain Finch gave her his promise yesterday, that he would go no more, until the war had ended, at least.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON NEEDS NO CHAUFFEUR

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 24.—A lot of newspaper space has been used in telling about jobs to be handed out by the governor, but one job has been entirely overlooked. The governor is empowered to appoint his own personal chauffeur at a salary of $125 a month, said salary to be paid by the state. But there is little chance of the appointment being made. The governor runs an electric.

INSURANCE RATE FOR SCHOOL BUILDINGS MAY BE LOWERED

In order that the city may derive the benefit of a lower insurance rate on its school buildings, there is a possibility that the board of school trustees will have the buildings insured at 80 per cent of their appraised value. The step has been under consideration for some time. Contractor George E. Preble having made an appraisal of the city's school buildings for School Trustee A. J. Crookshank, who was appointed a committee to investigate the matter. The proposition to have the buildings insured at 80 per cent of their appraised value was discussed at length last night at a meeting of the school board. Action was taken on a number of bills and a quantity of routine business disposed of.

EDUCATORS FLUTTER OVER STRACHAN RESIGNATION

Many Papers Read Today—Discussion Had Limit Placed On the Time to Talk

OAKLAND, Cal., August 24.—Some of the delegates to the National Educational Congress today were worried because the Grace Strachan resignation had not been delivered. The presumption of many was to the effect that Miss Strachan had thought better of her determination and wished the resignation kept per diem. She is a valuable member of the association, and her resignation from a matter of personal pique would be almost a calamity. The incident should be considered closed, and let it go at that. Eleven papers, all of them good, were scheduled to be read today, and this fact necessitated the making of a new set of "time for discussion" rules, those recognized being given two minutes each.

The first paper was on "High School Library Progress in California," written by Ella Morgan, Lincoln high school, Los Angeles. Then following in order "The State Normal Schools and the Training of High School Teachers," by Homer H. Seerley, president, Iowa State Teachers' College, Cedar Falls, Iowa; "Planning and Equipping a High School Library," by Janet H. Nunn; "Community Center Work," by Elizabeth C. Sterling, county school superintendent, Clarke county, Vancouver, Wash.; "Some Problems of State School Superpervision," by Edward O. Sisson, commissioner of Education, Boise, Idaho; "Report of Committee on Elementary School Libraries," by Effie L. Power, supervisor of work with schools, Carnegie Library, Pittsburg, Pa., and chairman of committee; "Basis of Selection of the Elementary School Collection," by Flora M. Case, school librarian, Salem, Oregon; "Preparation of Teachers for Rural Schools," specific topic, "A Decade of Progress," by Ernest Burnham, Western State Normal School, Kalamazoo, Mich.; "The Role of the High School to the Normal School," by Allison Ware, president State Normal School, Chico, Cal.; "Some Foreign Educational Surveys," by James Mahoney, head of the department of English, South Boston High School, Boston, Mass.; "The Library as a Continuation School," by Bernard C. Steiner, Enoch Pratt Free Library, Baltimore, Md.

There were four subjects discussed in the forenoon, three in the afternoon and four in the evening.

They were all good, and if it were not odious to compare it might be stated that the paper written by Bernard C. Steiner, of Baltimore, created the most interest and aroused the keenest discussion.

Some of the points made by Mr. Steiner were as follows:

The two divisions of public education are the public school and the public library. Libraries have developed their work with children very successfully, but one must not forget that their work is among all the people who can read, no matter how old they are. After the mass of the population leave the schools, their chief additional instruction comes from the library. To adults, the library serves as a continuation school, through:

- (1) Expert guidance given to readers.
- (2) Permitting its patrons access to the books.
- (3) Establishment of technological departments, in which books on applied arts and kindred subjects are placed under skilled clerks.
- (4) The issue of reading lists and bulletins on special subjects.
- (5) The use of the bibliographical apparatus, in the form of catalogues of other libraries, or evaluations of books, or indices to periodicals, etc.
- (6) Exposing books in its windows to catch the eye of the passerby.
- (7) Providing lectures.
- (8) Establishing clubs for reading aloud.
- (9) Associating an art gallery or museum with its main work.
- (10) Giving culture by introducing readers to the great men of all ages of whom the books tell and by whom the books were written.

HERE IS GOOD NEWS FOR STOMACH VICTIMS

Some very remarkable results are being obtained by treating stomach, liver and intestinal troubles with pure vegetable oils, which exert a cleansing, soothing and purifying action upon the lower bowels, removing the obstructions of poisonous fecal matter and gases and preventing their absorption by the blood. This done, the food is allowed free passage from the stomach, fermentation ceases and stomach troubles quickly disappear.

George H. Mayr, for twenty years a leading Chicago druggist, cured himself and many of his friends of stomach, liver and intestinal troubles of years' standing by this treatment, and so successful was the remedy he devised that it has since been placed in the hands of druggists all over the country, who have sold thousands of bottles.

Though absolutely harmless, the effect of the medicine is sufficient to convince any one of its remarkable effectiveness, and within 24 hours the sufferer feels like a new person. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy is sold by leading druggists everywhere with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded without question or quibble if ONE bottle fails to give you absolute satisfaction. HUNTINGTON BEACH OLD VETERANS HAVE DANCING CONTEST

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 24.—The G. A. R. encampment has broken up. The old veterans and their friends have gone to their homes and Tent City for a few days is deserted. One of the last events in connection with the encampment was the old-time dancing contest. There were a number of contestants in the preliminaries but in the final set it was narrowed down to four couples. The gentlemen were Dr. H. F. Crane of Universal City, age 73; H. K. Hoff of Santa Ana, age 75; G. W. Smith of Santa Ana, age 74; Aaron Lines of Riverside, age 80. The ladies were somewhat younger—Mrs. Florence Haines of Los Angeles, age 48; Mrs. Jennie Berry, Los Angeles, age 54; Mrs. H. K. Hoff, Santa Ana, age 60; Mrs. Permillia Daugherty, Los Angeles, age 49. Dr. Crane and Mr. Hoff took the men's prizes. Mrs. Haines and Mrs. Berry took the ladies' prizes.

Music was furnished by W. A. Packard, junior vice commander, aged 70, piano; J. A. Mansbury of Los Angeles, aged 75, fife; Robert S. Middleton; "Old Time Fiddler," of Los Angeles (not a veteran), violin; Philo L. Case of Los Angeles, aged 77, drum; M. P. Winterburn, Pasadena, aged 70, violin.

The dance was held in the new dancing pavilion on the beach and was witnessed by a large number of veterans and citizens.

WOMAN INJURED BY FALL UNABLE TO GO TO DAUGHTER'S FUNERAL

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 24.—That misfortunes never come singly has been strikingly exemplified in the case of Mrs. C. J. Gardiner of Eighth street who is lying in bed at her home with a severely wrenched back caused by a fall as she was crossing the street just after dark one night last week. Mrs. Gardiner was with another lady at the time, considerably older than herself. In stepping down from the walk to the street level where the curb was unusually high both ladies stumbled and Mrs. Gardiner in seeking to protect the older lady fell at full length in the street and the older lady fell across the small of her back. Mrs. Gardiner was unable to move and since being taken home is able to move but little in bed.

While Mrs. Gardiner was lying helpless in bed the funeral of her daughter, Mrs. Mable Thorp, was held in Los Angeles Saturday afternoon. A brother of Mrs. Gardiner, Mr. L. B. Stearns is in the Loma Linda sanitarium at Redlands where he went about two weeks ago for an operation for appendicitis. He passed through one operation safely but as he has a weak heart it will be necessary for him to undergo another operation as soon as the wound is healed.

HUNTINGTON BEACH LETS A CONTRACT FOR LATERAL SEWERS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 24.—Another contract for lateral sewers was let by the city trustees at their last meeting but Joe Chutuk was not the successful bidder this time. The contract went to a man of the same nationality with a bid of $2980. He is Adam Delmatin and has bid on several of the other sewer contracts but this is the first time he has been successful. The sewer is to be constructed in the alley between Eighth and Ninth streets and will serve a large section of the residence part of the city.

The city trustees at the same meeting instructed the city attorney to draw up an ordinance under the new law which permits cities of the sixth class to provide for caring for vacant lots at the expense of property owners. The new law went into effect August 7th.

DELIGHTFUL EVENING

Postoffice Force Present Newly Weds With Handsome Wedding Gift

The postoffice force had a delightful time last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Warren, 814 Parton street, where Mr. Martin Warren and his bride are residing until the completion of their new home.

Beautiful bouquets of pink lilies and ferns decorated the front rooms, purple and white asters lending floral charm to the living room. Although several of Uncle Sam's employees, who had helped to plan this pleasant affair were away on their vacations, the rooms were filled with the good friends whom Mr. Warren has won during the years of co-operation.

Every minute of the evening was filled with pleasure for the liveliest games imaginable had been planned and Gerald Gibson gave one of his inimitable readings.

As was most fitting for this occasion Mr. Sam Vogt, who has safely steered past all treacherous rocks and breakers on the sea of matrimony, made a jovial little speech, giving a wealth of matrimonial advice and blending this with reminiscences of the years since Mr. Warren joined the ranks of the postoffice force.

At the close of this mirth provoking speech, Mr. Vogt, in behalf of Mr. Warren's co-workers, several of whom were unable to share in the evening's fun, presented the "newly wed" with a handsome fumed oak rocker upholstered in leather, a gift for which Mr. and Mrs. Warren expressed their heartiest appreciation.

Pink and white ice cream and a variety of delicious home-made cake furnished by the self-invited guests, was enjoyed before the merry company departed at a late hour.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Warren, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Warren, Mr. and L. F. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Ditcher, Mr. Charles Severance and son Malcolm, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Winans, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Robert, Mr. Elmer Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Purdom, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Vogt, Mrs. D. B. Harris, Miss Clara Cade and Messrs. Floyd Mitchell, J. W. Temple and Gerald Gibson.

Delightful Evening
Relatives of Judge and Mrs. E. T. Langley enjoyed their hospitality Saturday evening, meeting at the Langley home at 929 Spurgeon street, which was prettily decorated with asters and ferns.

The young people contributed music and readings to the entertainment and at the close of the pleasant hours Misses Gladys and Beryl Smith and Mrs. N. E. Lentz assisted in serving a delicious two-course collation.

Among those present besides Judge and Mrs. Langley were Mr. and Mrs. Graham and family, Mrs. M. B. Bull, Mrs. Wicks and family, Mrs. Frances Lyon, Mrs. Norbet Lentz, Misses Beryl and Gladys Smith, Miss E. M. Goldsworthy, Misses Pearl and Vanebo Plumb and Hope and Josephine Bull.

Miss Dicklow left Textline several years ago to attend school in California, where after graduating, she was bookkeeper for the San Joaquin Warehouse Company. "Scandal," a big five-part masterpiece, by Lois Weber, author of "Hypocrites," is said to have taken Santa Ana by storm. The Lyric Theater played to capacity at the three matinee performances this afternoon and judging from comments, the three night shows commencing at 6, 7:30 and 9 o'clock will have the S. R. O. sign out early. Six shows will also be presented Wednesday.

"Scandal" is a story based on the evil that follows idle gossip. It is said to make people think of every mean thing they ever said of any one. According to Manager Knapp it fascinates all with its everyday true-to-life plot development, and it grips and thrills in the startling climax.

AMUSEMENTS

He is just a cat, but he has traveled over 18,000 miles; he has appeared before the footlights hundreds of times; he has a cue to which he must respond, just the same as a human member of the family, and his name is Majnun. It is an appropriate name, for he is a Persian cat, and Majnun in Persian means something or other.

When Majnun travels from one town to another he travels in a specialy mode, ventilated case, and he is looked after with as much care as the temperamental music director gives his prized violin.

Majnun made his theatrical debut in Richard Walton Tully's "Omar, the Tentmaker," at its premiere, in Montreal, December 8, 1913. He is one of the original members of the cast, along with Guy Bates Post, Louise Grassler and one or two others.

Majnun plays his role in the first act. He comes out majestically and nestles in the lap of Miss Grassler, who plays Shireen, beloved of Omar. After his exit he calmly sits in the wings and gravely watches the rest of the play. "Omar, the Tentmaker" will come to the Grand Opera House for one night, Thursday, September the 2nd.

ARE WOMEN NATURALLY DESPONDENT?

A prominent writer so claims. Women are constituted with a delicate organism and in nine cases out of ten mental depression may be attributed to an abnormal condition of the system, which expresses itself in nervousness, sleeplessness, backache, headaches, causing constant misery and as a result despondency. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a simple remedy made from roots and herbs, is the one great remedy for this condition. It goes to the root of the trouble and overcomes despondency.—Advertisement.

PRaises Beauty Of ROUTE TO SAN DIEGO

"The most delightful trip I have taken since I have been in California," is the way A. C. Tiede characterizes a motor outing he took last week to San Diego. With his two daughters and Mrs. James Bailey, Tiede left Santa Ana last Tuesday. He returned here Friday evening, going via the coast road on both trips. Accompanying Tiede's party in another car were Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Jackson, Mrs. Louisa Barkley and Mrs. Barkley's daughter, Miss Bertha.

"The roads are in fair condition," says Tiede. "Even those sections of the road that have not yet been paved are in pretty good condition, with the exception of about a mile just south of El Toro. It is a delightful drive. In fact, it is the most delightful I have taken since I have been in California."

"We were delighted with the San Diego exposition. One thing that struck me particularly was the courtesy that is shown by the exposition officials and attendants. Politeness is the rule. The grounds are beautiful and the entire exposition is a credit to San Diego and California."

Controversy Over Smash-up
In Donelson-Garlock Case
Still Far From Settled

MADAME SCHUMANN-HEINK'S
BAIL DECLARED FORFEITED

This morning $10 that at one time belonged to Madame Schumann-Heink, the great opera singer, was turned into the treasury of Orange County.

A few weeks ago the singer was arrested for speeding along the state highway near Irvine. She protested vigorously against arrest, and again she protested when Justice Cox refused to dismiss the case against her. In person, she went into the courtroom and declared that the arrest was a shame and a disgrace.

Justice Cox set the time for trial at 10 o'clock this morning. When 10 o'clock came Madame Schumann-Heink did not appear. At 11:30 she was still absent from court. Justice Cox declared her $10 bail forfeited.

Though jurors argued long and loud they could not reach a verdict in the auto-wagon smash-up controversy between S. R. Donelson, a South Main street grocer, and F. W. Garlock, a Delhi grocer. At 8 o'clock last night when the twelve men reported to Justice Cox that they were hopelessly separated in their opinions as to what ought to be done, the justice dismissed the jury.

Donelson asked $299 damages against Garlock, and Garlock asked $50 against Donelson. Donelson alleged that on Sycamore and Cubbon streets last November Garlock drove an automobile on the wrong side of the street, and smashed up Donelson's horse-drawn delivery outfit. Garlock declared that his machine was standing still when Donelson's rig ran into

it. There were differences in the testimony that evidently made for the differences in the minds of the jurors. After the jury had been out awhile the justice was called in. There was prospect that a verdict would be brought in awarding damages to neither and dividing the costs of suit between the two. Justice Cox informed the jury that it had nothing to do with the costs.

The jury was again locked up, and lengthy arguments ensued. The basement rang with the oratory. But the oratory brought no decision. The last vote stood seven one way and five the other.

Those on the jury were Silas Wright, D. G. Cole, G. H. Michaels, Gus Stumpf, S. G. Shoemaker, R. Rainey, O. W. Bissett, J. H. Cochran, G. E. Norton, D. G. Campbell, William McGreavy and W. D. Barker.

Justice Commended

Justice Cox today received a letter from J. J. Engeldrun of Long Beach commending the "spirited and just part" he has played in the controversy with Justice Underwood of Long Beach.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS
COUNTY BOARD'S
ASKED TO QUIT
FORESTRY

Taxpayers' League Request Is Presented and An Argument
Ensues

At the meeting of the Board of Supervisors this morning A. C. Tiede and J. S. Brooks as a committee from the Taxpayers' League of Orange County presented the resolution of the league asking that the county forestry work be stopped. No action was taken with the matter.

Tiede read the report that was submitted to the league by S. J. Jackson, which report was published in the Register last week. Tiede stated that he did not believe there is any argument that can be brought forward that will convince any fair-minded man that the planting of the highways can be anything but a detriment to the taxpayers and property owners. He said that walnuts and oranges and other fruits are too valuable to waste any ground to ornamental trees. He said it was a mistake to use money for the purpose of planting roadside trees, and he felt sure that the league's resolution represented the sentiment of the people upon the subject.

Tiede stated that he did not believe that trees that have been planted out have been taken care of properly. He said the department would be an increasing expense, and he thought the cost would run up $500 a mile.

T. E. Stephenson, member of the board of forestry, said that the question of whether or not to continue the forestry work came up several months ago, and the forestry board and supervisors had endeavored to get the sentiment of the people upon the subject. So far as the forestry board is concerned, he said that it is serving without pay and if the people do not want the planting done, certainly the forestry board is willing to quit operations.

Stephenson said that the matter was taken up by the Associated Chambers of Commerce and by some half a dozen or more individual civic organizations of the county, and all of them gave the project their endorsement. The Associated Chambers vote being unanimously in favor of it. The question would then arise: Who best represents the sentiment of the people of Orange County, the Taxpayers' League or the various chambers of commerce and Associated Chambers?

Stephenson said that roadside trees are an asset. If Tiede's argument holds good that roadside should have nothing but oranges and walnuts along them, every ornamental tree on the roads of the county should be cut down right now. He said that if the roadside trees now full grown are an asset, and a source of enjoyment and beauty, then the work of planting and providing for the future should be kept up by the county. If it is to be kept up, the forestry department is willing to submit that the showing has been one of economy.

J. S. Brooks stated that there is no doubt but that ornamental trees are a detriment, and with taxes a burden the supervisors ought to stop the forestry work. He declared that the league's attitude upon the matter represented the sentiment of the people.

LAST SAD RITES FOR WESTMINSTER PIONEER

Impressive funeral rites were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Smith & Tutill's chapel for Frank L. Carlyle, a highly respected pioneer of Westminster, who was well known in this vicinity.

Rev. W. T. Wardle of Westminster, assisted by Rev. Richard Pyke of Santa Ana, had charge of the services. Mrs. Margaret Jasper and Miss Nellie Jewell of Orange singing two beautiful, comforting songs, "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and "The Lord Knows Why."

The large attendance and mass of beautiful flowers spoke eloquently of Mr. Carlyle's place in this community. Emblems from the I. O. O. F. Lodge and the Modern Woodmen being among the floral pieces.

Messrs. John and George Carlyle, brothers of the deceased; Messrs. J. C. Metzger, J. H. Metzgar and J. W. Patterson, his brother-in-law, and W. H. Bently of Westminster acted as pall bearers.

"The soul that rises with us, our life's star, Hath had elsewhere its setting and cometh from afar."

So, very early in the morning of Saturday last, the soul of Frank L. Carlyle set out again for that far setting, set out quietly upon that unknown sea, which leads to the "Home of the Soul."

With "No sadness of farewell, no moaning of the bar, leaving his pain-racked body, Nautilus like upon the shore." So sudden was his passing that his best friends did not know the serious nature of his illness and his death came with the force of a shock to every one.

He had lived in the neighborhood of his death from boyhood, and scarce a home in the vicinity had not at some time of sorrow felt the comfort and support of his kindly helpfulness.

He was a dutiful son, an affectionate brother, a loyal friend, a kind neighbor, a devoted husband, a living and indulgent father and was dearly beloved of little children. His last weeks were full of intense pain and great weariness, but he fought with the courage and endurance with the patience and fortitude of his dear little mother, of blessed memory, and he was granted the blessing of a peaceful death.

The deepest sympathy of all whom his life has touched goes out to his beloved family and relatives in their sorrow, praying that God will "keep them all the long of this troublesome life" in His most tender care.

Now we have laid him to rest under that "green tent which never outward swings," saying through our tears, "I believe in the resurrection of the body and the Life Everlasting, Amen."

ARKANSAS FLOOD WORST IN STATE HISTORY

Newport People Are In Desperate Need, Where Waters Left Them Homeless

WATER IS NOW RECEDING
 Galveston Is Recovering From Shock of Storm and Is Building Trestle

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 24.—Five thousand people in the town of Newport, Ark., were marooned last night by the flood waters of the White River. According to a telephone message received here, the populace is in desperate straits. Eight persons are reported to have lost their lives. The town is inundated to a depth ranging from five to twelve feet and most of the population has sought refuge in the upper floors of the hotels and the court house.

Because of recent heavy rains, the river rose rapidly and all the levees protecting the town gave way early, letting loose one of the most disastrous floods in the history of the community. Two steamboats continued making trips up and down the river in the vicinity of Newport and succeeded in rescuing a number of families from the roofs of houses. Finally the flood became too great and the boats had to withdraw.

All means of communication with the town, save the telephone wire, has been destroyed and it was feared last night that before morning the telephone wire would be gone. Several passenger trains are stalled at Newport. With food and water supplies almost exhausted, and with many refugees in the town from other points along the river, the situation was one which authorities here considered grave.

The river, although rising slowly last night, was expected to begin falling today.

THOUSANDS HOMELESS IN VALLEY PARK

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 24.—The receding of the flood of the Meramec river today failed to substantiate the reports to the coroner of St. Louis county that twelve persons were drowned Sunday when the river rose to the highest mark ever recorded, and it is now thought that none perished in the overflow.

It is impossible to estimate accurately the property damage from the floods of the Meramec, Gasconade and other Ozark Mountain streams; but a large area of bottom farm land in east and southeastern Missouri is under water.

Thirty-five hundred persons in Valley Park were made homeless Sunday, and this afternoon a relief committee headed by D. K. Albright, superintendent of a large glass factory at Valley Park, voted to appeal to Governor Major of Missouri for aid. Mr. Albright said $100,000 was needed for the relief of the destitute in Valley Park. Many of the flood sufferers will be without work for two or three weeks, he said.

GALVESTON PEOPLE BUILDING TRESTLE OVER BAY

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 24.—Relief work in Galveston, found necessary as a result of the hurricane a week ago, is making satisfactory progress. Few applications for help have been received so far. Rail lines have been established to both ends of the Causeway and pile drivers and material men to operate them are ready to build a trestle across the bay.

Cleanup work in the city is going steadily forward.

BIG CROWDS GOING TO LABOR DAY PICNIC

"It looks as though all Orange county were going to take a day off on Monday, September 6, and make a play-day of it at their popular playground, Newport Beach," said a member of the arrangements committee that is just now heels over head in the work of making ready for the large crowd expected by the Orange County Trades Council to celebrate on Labor Day.

"It was a happy day for Orange county when the first Monday in September of each year was officially designated as a state holiday," continued the speaker. "Orange county is the natural playground of Southern California, and as such she cannot have too many holidays to draw to her borders the tourists and others—the ones who are today the casual visitors, tomorrow the investors, the home-builders, the city-builders."

Meanwhile the committees on arrangements, programs, prizes, amusements and the customary incidentals, are receiving offers of assistance, suggestions for freak surprise stunts, and such a great variety of miscellaneous articles to be used as prizes, as to be almost an embarrassment.

The transportation feature, which has often been a vexing one, seems to have been solved. A special rate of thirty-five cents for the round trip, for Labor Day only, has been secured, and assurances are given by the busmen that ample facilities for the quick movement of the public will be provided.

Arrangements are under way, and probably will be consummated, to have a motion picture company filmize the crowd and many of the day's events, and possibly to incorporate scenes therefrom in pending scenarios, the result later to be featured in every Orange county show house.

NO HUNTING IN THE SAN BERNARDINO MTS. SAN JACINTO'S OPEN

The following letter, of interest to sportsmen especially, and to all lovers of the mountains generally, is self-explanatory:

San Bernardino, Aug. 21, 1915.
 Mr. J. P. Baumgartner, Santa Ana, Cal.:—Attention is called to the fact that the State Legislature has prohibited hunting in the San Bernardino Mountain range within limits which practically take in the entire range from the Cajon Pass to San Geronimo. This enactment protects all game at all times excepting water fowl in open season.

Hunters who have heretofore sought deer, squirrel, mountain quail and wood pigeons in these mountains will be compelled to procure their favorite sport elsewhere. The San Jacinto mountain country with its vast foothills and thickets is still open, offering splendid opportunities to the hunter. And the opening of the season on September 1, will, no doubt, see many sportsmen in the field. The best hunting grounds may be reached via the Santa Fe to Hemet and thence by stage of the San Bernardino Mountain Auto Line. Through tickets may be purchased over the Santa Fe to Idyllwild and the Dark Canyon country.

Ask your Santa Fe agent for information with reference to locality.

Yours truly,
 MAX GREEN,
 San Bernardino Mountain Auto Line.

NEWPORT BAY ONE OF COUNTY'S GREATEST ASSETS. DECLARATION OF FAMOUS CIVIL ENGINEER

The following article was written by Albert Bosche, a famous civil engineer now deceased, for the Register's Special edition:

One of the greatest assets of Orange county is its coast line, and particularly Newport Bay. It lies at the very threshold of the county seat, the beautiful city of Santa Ana. The people of Orange county, being busily engaged in fruit and agricultural pursuits, have given little thought to the wonderful possibilities of a harbor at Newport Bay.

There has never been a time in the history of the world, when the improvement of harbors and waterways has attracted the attention that it does today. With the completion of the Panama Canal, the present ports on the Pacific Coast will be inadequate to accommodate the incoming commerce that will seek our coast. Few of these ports can offer the many advantages that are to be found at Newport Bay. Here Nature has provided a natural harbor for Orange county, the benefits of which will be shared with the surrounding territory as far east as the Colorado river.

Great Tidal Area

Newport Bay has an immense tidal area which is important, because it permits of improvements which could not be made in harbors of smaller tidal area, on account of displacement of tide water. This will result in the easy maintenance of the channels; for, as the tide recedes, the outgoing waters of the bay will keep the channels open by a continual scour. The climatical conditions of this port cannot be excelled. Being land-locked, Newport Bay offers perfect safety to shipping. In harbors of the northern and central Pacific coast, considerable risk is involved in entering or leaving port in heavy or foggy weather. Vessels are frequently delayed by dangerous bars, heavy fog and contrary currents. None of these dangers or delays will be encountered in Newport Bay.

Natural Harbor

It will not require a great engineering feat nor great expenditure of money to open this harbor to the commerce of the world. Being a natural harbor, it will be necessary only to assist nature a little by the construction of jetties to extend into deep water; a distance of two thousand feet will give a depth of about forty feet, which is sufficient, for the largest trans-oceanic vessels.

What constitutes a good commercial port? A place where ship and rail will meet. At this port it will be possible to create terminal facilities that would accommodate several trans-continental railroads. Up to the bay are not owned by any one railroad corporation. Great care should be taken that they never shall be. At the present time several great railroads are seeking terminals on this coast, and it is a well known fact that the water frontage of other ports are controlled by one railroad to the exclusion of others.

Solid Piers Possible

It is possible to build here the most modern type of terminals or moles, the great tidal area, will permit the building of solid piers. This will permit of rapid handling of freight, warehouses can be built on these piers where a ship's cargo may be placed, awaiting the arrival of the ship. These moles may be provided with railroad tracks on the frontage between the warehouse and the ship to aid in the rapid transfer of freight. Between the warehouses may be built tracks for the making up of trains or the diverting of cars. All this will greatly lessen the time of a ship in port, which is always expensive.

Building Sites

This harbor, having great areas of marsh lands, offers building sites for industrial purposes. By raising this land from six to nine feet above high water with the material dredged from the channels, industrial property will be created, having its own deep water frontage. This will ultimately result in one of the greatest industrial centers of the Pacific Coast being established at this port; industrial property having a frontage on deep water with railroad facilities, fuel oil, and electric power, offering an ideal industrial site that would surely attract great industries. Here, great factories may have sites with their own deep water frontage, which is very desirable. For example the cotton industry of the Imperial Valley, which is still in its infancy, in time will make it necessary for great mills to be built near at hand.

Many Industries Possible

The great quantity of iron in the neighboring mountains, which is said by men of authority to be of the highest quality, will demand steel plants, rolling mills, and iron works. With such industries will come great shipbuilding yards. Imagine, if you can, a battleship built of California iron, in a Southern California port. Yet all this is possible and would be very desirable. You have something of great importance to offer the government. Balboa Island could be made into a naval station, with a dry dock and navy yard. When you take into consideration the advantage and importance of such a naval base on this coast, this port for that purpose alone would prove one of the greatest assets of this county. All this is possible, and many other industries also may find good locations on Newport Bay.

In view of all these wonderful possibilities for a great harbor, can you not see the truth of the prophecy—California the Queen of the Union? One port alone, with all of the possibilities of Newport Bay, would build on its shores another New York. The West is the land of the future, but the future is near and is becoming the present day by day. Why then delay, for the need of such a harbor is pressing, and will soon be demanded by the already increasing commerce, which will further increase as the years roll on.

The Non-Partisan Referendum

BY C. C. YOUNG

Speaker of the Assembly and Author of the So-Called "Non-Partisan Bills"

The California legislature of 1915 passed three laws concerning non-partisanship in local and state affairs. Briefly, these laws were as follows:

1. Direct Primary Law.—A revision of the former primary law, simplifying and clarifying it in many particulars, among other things, extending the principle of non-partisanship to legislative and state officers, but not to federal officers or party committees.

2. Reform of Ballot Law.—An amendment to a code section, providing that nominees for United States senator, representative in congress, and presidential electors shall appear upon the ballot as party nominees, but that nominees for local and state offices shall appear without party designation.

3. New Registration Law.—An amendment to three code sections, repealing former provisions by which the voter on registering also registered his party affiliation, and leaving such declaration of party affiliation to be made at the polls of the primary election, as provided in the new direct primary law, and as done in most states of the union.

The purpose of these laws, as far as their non-partisan features are concerned, is simply to make it possible that candidates for state and legislative offices may hereafter be chosen, just as candidates for municipal, county, judicial, and school offices are now chosen,—on the basis of their personal fitness and efficiency, rather than because they belong to any particular national political party.

Certain individuals, however, professed to disagree with this endeavor to divorce the state's business from party politics, and have hence invoked a referendum, by which the voters of the state, on the 26th of next October, may either ratify these laws by voting "yes" upon them, or by voting "no," may insist upon party politics as a factor in conducting the business of the state.

As I shall show later in this discussion, the individuals who have brought about this referendum have effectually defeated their own purposes by invoking it only on the first two of the laws outlined above, and by failing to invoke it on the third, which has accordingly now become a law of the state. But before discussing this blunder and its curious consequences, let us look into a few facts and figures which may properly be considered in connection with these so-called "non-partisan laws."

Non-Partisanship No New Thing in California

There was a time, under the old convention system, when every city, county and state official in California was elected as the nominee of some political party,—the reasons for his choice being his membership in such party rather than his own merits as an individual. The change in this method of election commenced about 22 years ago when the city of San Jose adopted a charter providing for the non-partisan election of its city officials, a movement soon followed by practically every city in the state, until now all city officials are elected non-partisanly. The number of such non-partisan municipal offices runs well into the thousands, and no one now would ever consider for a moment returning to the former plan.

The direct primary law enacted in 1911 extended this principle of non-partisanship to judicial and school officers, thus covering nearly 800 offices, 17 of the number being state and district offices, namely, the state superintendent of schools and the state supreme and appellate courts.

The direct primary law, as amended in 1913, still further extended non-partisanship so as to include all county and township offices, thereby adding over 1500 to the non-partisan list, and making a total of over 2800 non-partisan offices provided by this law. In fact, it would seem that the real "non-partisan law" was this primary law of 1913, rather than the one now being referred to.

Yet so satisfactory have these laws proved in the cause of good government that no enemy of non-partisanship has had the hardihood to suggest withdrawing this principle from a single one of these 2300 offices.

In the new direct primary law (the so-called "non-partisan bill" now held up by referendum) the number of offices by which it is proposed to increase the present non-partisan list is exactly 131—11 state and district offices (as against 17 already non-partisan) and 120 legislative offices (as compared with 2300 offices, similarly local and already on the non-partisan list).

Hence, it will be seen that this new law presents no novel principle, but merely provides a small but logical extension to a principle already well established and definitely approved in California. The present claim of the party politicians that this slight extension means disaster to national parties is, of course, absurd. If political parties in national affairs could be killed by non-partisanship in local and state affairs, they would have been killed long ago. If they have been able to survive the thousands of municipal, county, and state non-partisan offices already in existence, they may safely be trusted to survive the hundred new ones here added.

It may be readily conceded that our national government is maintained upon a party basis and will probably remain so, but no greater fallacy was ever devised than the dictum that national parties depend for their existence upon the existence of similar parties in the state. On the contrary it would seem self-evident that those charged with the government of our local institutions should logically be chosen "because they are honest and careful men of business rather than because they hold Democratic or Republican views in national affairs."

"Bryce"—"American Commonwealth."

Non-Partisanship Not a Party Movement

It has been charged by the proponents of the referendum that the movement for local non-partisanship is the work of the Progressive party—a charge doubtless due to the fact that Governor Johnson favors it, as he has similarly favored dozens of other measures in the interest of public welfare and good government.

As a matter of fact, local non-partisanship in California cities commenced twenty years before there was any Progressive party, and was practically completed in all places, including the large cities of Los Angeles, San Francisco and Oakland, before the Progressive party was ever thought of.

The direct primary law of 1911, making judicial and school offices non-partisan was unanimously supported in the legislature by senators and assemblymen of all parties. The law of 1913, extending the principle to county offices, and making, as we have seen, over 2300 offices non-partisan, was first proposed by a conservative anti-Johnson Democrat, and was almost unanimously carried by the votes of Republicans, Democrats and Progressives alike.

The present direct primary law, now before us, received in the senate the votes of more than three-fourths of that body. In the assembly it received support, both by word and by vote, from members of all five parties. In spite of an active anti-administration Republican faction in the assembly, which seemingly made it its business to oppose anything the governor was known to favor, it received on final roll call the votes of at least one-third of the Republican assemblymen. It received votes also, not only from Progressive, Socialist and Prohibitionist members, but from nearly two-thirds of the Democrats as well.

In a word, this application of the principle of non-partisanship to state and legislative offices, far from being the invention of any political party, is but the carrying out to its logical conclusion of a principle already firmly established and emphatically endorsed by the people of California. It has kept pace with a natural and gradual growth in public opinion, as experience has developed its value. It aims no blow either at party responsibility, but restricts partisanship to those issues which alone have anything to do with party. It removes an artificial and illogical handicap on local government, which has been placed there largely through the efforts, and for the self-interest, of professional politicians. It substitutes the logical for the illogical, and makes our local governmental activities a matter of business efficiency rather than one dependent upon the politician and the vagaries of blind partisanship.

The Blunder of the Proponents of Referendum

If there are any persons who are still doubtful as to the wisdom of non-partisanship in state affairs, such persons will probably be disposed to vote for these laws anyway, when they note the logical effect of a contrary vote. For in the frantic endeavor of politicians to referendum a matter which they had not looked into and knew little or nothing about, they have referendum the primary and the ballot law, but have neglected to referendum the supplementary, and no less important, companion registration law.

Suppose that the referendum should succeed, and the so-called non-partisan primary law be defeated. In that case the old primary law would continue to operate, but it would have to operate in conjunction with the new registration law. The result would be hopeless confusion in our election laws, and would seemingly prevent the holding of any partisan primary whatever, even for federal offices.

Suppose, for example, some Republican desired to run for congress and should attempt to circulate his petition. Under the old primary law, which would be in force if the new one were defeated, each signer of his petition must declare that he is registered as a Republican. But under the new registration law which will also be in force, none of the electors is registered as a Republican or as anything else. Consequently, it will be absolutely impossible for him to file a nomination paper which will comply with the law.

But suppose he could file his nomination paper, there could be no party ballot on which to print his name, since the old primary law declares that the number of party ballots printed shall be one and one-fourth times the number of voters registered in the party. But inasmuch as there are no voters registered in any party, the number of party ballots would be one and one-fourth times nothing, or exactly nothing.

And even suppose there were party ballots, they would be of little use, because nobody could legally vote them. For the old primary law explicitly states that everyone registered without statement of party affiliation "shall be given a non-partisan ballot, and no other"—these non-partisan ballots containing the names of only judicial, school, and county candidates. And since everybody will be registered without statement of party affiliation, everybody will receive a non-partisan ballot, and our congressional aspirant will find himself a man without a party.

Under this amusing condition, if the referendum should succeed in defeating these laws, nobody could be nominated as the candidate of any party for any office, local, state, or federal. All public officers, including presidential electors, United States senators, and representatives in congress, would have to be elected as independents. Thus the referendum, if successful, would produce a degree of non-partisanship beyond the wildest dreams of the most extreme non-partisan in the legislature.

As the case now stands, all who favor non-partisanship in local affairs will of course vote "yes" on these bills. Moreover, all who think they oppose local non-partisanship will also do well to vote "yes" upon them, since, through the bungling of their leaders, to do otherwise will create a situation which may mean not only non-partisanship in state offices, but in federal offices as well.

the mass of detail upon which the recommendations and estimates were made. No better way for regulating expenditures, fixing responsibility and laying financial facts before the public could be found.

In conclusion, Chambers gave the following figures as illustrative of the workings of the 1915 budget: General appropriation bill, requests before the Board of Control and Controller, totaled $17,365,726 with $15,358,200 recommended, a cut of $2,007,526. Requests for special appropriations totaled $11,334,495, with $9,841,425 recommended, a cut of $1,493,070. In addition, $500,000 was recommended for unreported needs, to cover independent bills introduced by legislators.

The legislators passed and the Governor signed general and special appropriation bills totaling $19,084,410, or $241,216 less than the budget recommended, including the $500,000 for unreported needs. For unreported needs, the legislature exceeded the budget total only $158,754, including the independent bills introduced. This Chambers characterized as "pretty good team work."

The Santa Railroad Commission has suspended operation of an amendment to the law governing railroads, which prohibited the transmission of train-moving orders by telephone and made necessary the placing of telegraph operators at all points where orders are delivered to trains. LOS ANGELES PRODUCE MARKET

Southern California egg producers are demanding a higher price at present than consumers can afford to pay. If conditions were not so abnormal this year a price of 30 cents a dozen to the producer would not seem out of the way. Some of the chicken men have urged the greater cost of wheat in the main reason why they must secure present high prices for their stock. However, it has been discovered that a large number of chicken raisers have been feeding their stock on cheaper food than wheat, and as a result can make the same margin of profit as they did last year if they lowered their price 2 or 3 cents a dozen.

Monday was a quiet day in the local produce market, and fruit arrivals continue large. All grades of cantaloupes were reduced yesterday, and new prices established were $1.00 for Paul Rose, large crates, $1.25 for Columbia pack. Tiptop cantaloupes are practically off the market, and but a few crates are still on hand. Grapes are in plentiful supply, and all varieties are being quoted at 80 to 85 cents a lug. Concord grapes are no longer to be secured in full crates, the two-thirds size now being the only one in stock. Kelsey plums are cheaper, and French sugar plums declined to 65 cents a lug. The vegetable list was unaltered, with the exception of bell peppers, which were reduced to 3 1/2 and 4 cents a pound.

CURRENT PRICES

[The following market prices on poultry and eggs, fruits and vegetables are compiled daily for the Register, based on the quotations prevailing on the Los Angeles produce exchange for the business day preceding. Every effort is made to keep these quotations accurate and down to the latest possible available figures.]

Fresh ranch, case count, 20; candied 22@24; shipped from points outside of seventy-mile radius, which designates local stock, 29; northern fresh extras, f. o. b. San Francisco, 30c.

enjoyed by a crowd of Garden Grove young people Saturday night. The affair was in honor of Fred Winter's birthday.

A bunch of Mr. Winters' best friends assembled in machines in front of the jewelry store and when he reached home from Los Angeles, where he is employed as a jeweler and optometrist, the party set out for the beach. A moonlight dip in the surf had been contemplated but the bath house was closed and no one could be found to open it so this plan was given up.

After the bonfire was made and everyone had consumed as many hot "dogs" as they possibly could, the crowd made a circle around the fire and enjoyed several humorous readings ably given by Mrs. McElree and Wayne Holt. After this the game of "Gossip" was played and caused much merriment as the original sentence was changed and twisted as it was whispered around the circle and the last one repeated aloud the message he received or thought he received.

Before the joy-makers left for home some exciting games were played on the hard sand near the water's edge.

Those who participated in the evening's fun were Misses Constance German, Elizabeth Brown, Muriel Arkley, Georgia German; Messrs. Fred Winters, Wayne Holt, Waldo Tournet, Albert Schneider, Mr. and Mrs. Monte Preston, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Cain and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McElree, who chaperoned.

Our Gift to you of this $5 Bible

No difference how many Bibles you now have, this one MAKES PLAIN the subjects by pictures printed with the type; so of all others, this is the USEFUL Bible for all. PRESENTED by the

to its readers, who will ever be grateful for the opportunity offered by this grand educational distribution.

In addition to the 600 beautiful text illustrations are full page plates of the famous Tissot pictures in handsome colors. As Edward K. Bok, editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, says: "This Bible is not a meaningless picture book. The illustrations serve a distinct purpose. They enrich the text, but they do more—they intelligently EXPLAIN it, so that many a hitherto obscure passage assumes to thousands a new meaning through these eye-teaching pictures."

You will enjoy this Bible, whether you belong to the church or not, for its "eye-teaching" pictures make it of rare educational value to all.

Today's Bible Certificate will be found on another page.

This is what Abraham Lincoln said: "No library is complete without two certain books—the Bible and Shakespeare; hardly a quotation is used in literature that is not taken from one of these books."
